The iteration process for this project is huge, since i did it by doing a design Jam.

Inspo, moodboard and elements:
I started by gathering some inspiration from other websites, then i created a moodboard to set the tone for the site, lastly i gathered multiple elements i would want to use from google or generated with Midjourney.

Homepage design jam:
After that i started a design jam to define the home page, the top is some other elements i liked, and the first line are Stan's iterations, he was showing me how to do a jam, and the second line are my iterations, after the example of iterating Stan gave me, i started making many iterations and finally found one i liked.

Menu page iterations:

I also did many iterations until i found a style i liked.

Other pages iterations:

I also made some iterations on designs for the intro screen pages and 404.
